

THE CHAUTAUQUA CLOSES

LUTHERAN SUMMER ASSEMBLY HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL.

A 1913 Chautauqua Should Have the Financial Support of Our People.

The closing of the Chautauqua, the Lutheran Summer Assembly and the Summer School of the College gives a hopeful outlook to the permanency of these new summer forms of activity.

The Summer School was highly satisfactory in every way and cannot help but grow quickly into a permanent feature of the place.

Lutheran Summer Assembly.

The Lutheran Summer Assembly surpassed all expectations of those most acquainted with previous assemblies. There was a larger attendance here than at any previous assembly. The total in other years had been made to look well by the addition of day visitors but here more were in attendance to spend the whole week. The program proved to be a most excellent one, and the paid attendance was larger than ever before.

Rev. U. A. Baakey, D.D., conducted the devotion studies each morning, subject on Tuesday being "The All Sufficient Grace," on Wednesday, "The Christian Unhindered Wealth," on Thursday "Things Worth Having," on Friday "The Assurance of Faith," and on Saturday "Essential Characteristics of Present-day Christians."

Rev. C. P. Wiles conducted a series of Biblical studies each morning, confining himself to the Epistles and Philippians and taking as his special study on Tuesday "The Conduct of the Church," on Wednesday "The Equipment of the Church," on Thursday "The Service of Christ," on Friday "The Mind of Christ," and on Saturday "The Gun in Christ."

The Conference Hour each day proved helpful. On Tuesday H. B. Gerhardt spoke on "How to Organize Brotherhoods and to Get Them to Study Missions," and on Tuesday on "What Brotherhoods Have Done." On Tuesday Rev. J. B. Baker spoke on "Boy's Work," and on Wednesday on "Young Men's Brotherhood Work." Miss Sallie Froelich on Tuesday covered the subject of "Our Meeting," on Wednesday "Our Money," on Thursday "Our Young People," on Friday "Our Children," and on Saturday "Missionary Miscellany." Dr. J. A. Glutz on Thursday spoke on "The Minister in His Study," on Friday on "The Teachers at Work," and on Saturday on "The Minister in the Homes of His Parishioners." Rev. D. Burton Smith on Thursday took as his subject "Officers at Work," on Friday "Teachers at Work," and on Saturday "The Graded System at Work."

Each morning session closed with a lecture and they were most instructive and entertaining. On Tuesday Rev. A. R. Wentz took as the subject of his lecture "The Religious Movement in Germany." On Wednesday Rev. E. F. Altman spoke on "The Future of the Lutheran Church." On Thursday Rev. Heilmann's lecture was on "Our Lutheran Hymn Writers and Their Hymns." On Friday Rev. F. P. Manhart spoke on "Philosophy of Paul as Set Forth in the Colossians," and on Saturday on "Christology of Paul as Set Forth in Colossians."

A sunset devotional service was conducted each evening by Rev. P. A. Heilmann, D.D.

The success of the Assembly resulted in a permanent organization to be known as the Lutheran Summer Assembly Association, and officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. S. Winfield Herman, of Harrisburg; Vice President, Dr. W. A. Granville, of this place; Secretary, Dr. F. G. Gotwald, of York, and Treasurer, Rev. J. B. Meyer, of Jersey City.

Chautauqua.

The Gettysburg Chautauqua was carried out in detail as previously outlined, coming to an end Monday evening. The program proved of an excellent character in a number of parts and in others it was not strong. Dr. Frederick Poole was great in his lectures on "Old China," "Peking to the Great Wall," and "New China." He gave wonderful descriptive pictures of China from the two points of view, so as to make one feel a better acquaintance with a most interesting subject.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw brought here one of the greatest messages of the week in her address on "The Duty of Women Citizens in a Republic." She tore into shreds every male argument advanced against giving the ballot to women. She declared that for every job taken by women from men in the present age she would watch as many taken by men from women since the days of our grandmothers. Men are now doing the work then done by women in baking, in weaving and manufacture of much that is worn, in the providing of food already cooked, and today the world has a large number of men milliners.

She proved by argument and illustration that the onward development of the race demands that men and women stand side by side with equal legal and political rights. That it was not so much to cast the ballot as to have the right, and along with it financial freedom. That we must lose our conceptions of those things called men's work and women's work, that each one, man or woman, must be free to work at that which best suits their capacities, and working on a plain of equality will advance the race to higher and nobler expressions of life.

Dr. J. Leonard Levy brought us an inspiration in his lecture on "Marching On," declaring that today was the best day the world has ever seen, proving his proposition by history with its necessary results that tomorrow will be a better day than today. His second lecture on "Twentieth Century Ideals" was a plain talk on social purity. He handled this delicate subject in a great way. He gave unanswerable reasons why the race must face it plainly and the wrong it is to avoid it because it shocks previous conceptions. The present conditions must be faced and overcome for the good of the race.

Other entertainers took their part as announced in former issues of the Compiler, but the story of the Chautauqua would be incomplete without reference to the large and highly creditable part taken in it by our own people. The Chautauqua Chorus had a part in many of the sessions and this Chorus, led by L. L. Taylor, is always worth hearing. It is better than ever before and a treat to hear. Our soloists, Miss Ruth Clutz, Mrs. J. B. Baker, Miss Reba Miller and Mrs. R. E. Zinn, delighted the audiences. Miss Caroline Bream gave a number of excellent recitations. On Sunday evening Dr. T. C. Billheimer gave his illustrated lecture on "Esther" which is entitled to the high rank it enjoys on the platform. There were addresses by Dr. Granville, Dr. Sanders and others and altogether Gettysburg made a most excellent showing on the program for the 1912 Chautauqua.

Next Year's Chautauqua.

With about 700 tickets subscribed for the 1912 Chautauqua the third one is assured. Our people will be thoroughly canvassed for the 1913 tickets. Our people are unanimously in favor of the Chautauqua being made a permanent affair. It is the one expression, coupled it is true with some criticism, The continuation of the Chautauqua is a duty the community owes itself, owes it for the inspiration and educational value, owes it as the only way for the thirty or more guarantees of the $10,000 deficit to get a square deal from the town. The Chautauqua of this year came out very little behind financially and next year must make money to be applied to making good the deficits, so that our business men will not be called upon to suffer for the very excellent institution they have backed.

The Board of Directors of the Gettysburg Chautauqua met on Tuesday morning. The Board has been increased to fifteen members and Prof. C. F. Sanders was elected president of the Board; Dr. T. C. Billheimer, vice president; C. S. Reaser, secretary; L. L. Taylor, treasurer and Geo. L. Kieffer, manager.

W. M. R. R. a Trunk Line.

Last Thursday, Aug. 1st marked the opening of the new branch of the W. M. R. R. the 87 miles line between Conowingo and Cumberland and placing this road in the ranks of trunk lines connecting the East with the West. There was no ceremony connected with the opening. Officials of the railroad went over the extension and residents along the line greeted the pulling messenger of progress with cheers and the blowing of whistles. The first train over the extension was one of forty cars from Pittsburg, loaded with pipe, all new Western Maryland care with new engine. This train went eastward on line through Shippensburg. An eastern train of 20 cars coming over the extension on opening day reached Hagerstown on Saturday and went through Gettysburg early Sunday morning. Such was the beginning of a movement of traffic over this new line which it is believed will grow to enormous dimensions as it will be the shortest and lowest grade road between the Lakes and Atlantic Seaboard.

Clean Up of N. G. P. Camp.

Only a corporal's guard, so to speak of the National Guard of Pennsylvania remain to tell the tale of Camp Edwin S. Stuart. Only the details are left on the field, to look after the clean up of the camp and the putting of everything in order after the ten days encampment of the 7100 Guards. The First, Third and Fourth Brigades struck their tents on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week and got away like clock work, in the orderly way of an army.

It is remarkable the ease with which the railroads and the Guard officials detain and entrain coming and going, everything working like machinery and it is this capacity of the town that is one of the things that has always made Gettysburg an attractive point for an encampment.

Another advantage here is the battlefield with the story it tells of actual warfare. It is a great object lesson and again and again has some movement of 1863 been used for demonstration purposes. Gettysburg is said to be the best drawing card that the N. G. P. has with which to secure enlistments. Full advantage of this place can only be had when the senseless sentiment of desecration has been buried in limbo, for what more sacred use could be made of a battlefield than a field of instruction for the citizen soldiery in the tactics of war, patriotism and the defense of their country. It is to be hoped that the United States will put to such use the great areas it now own here.

The Guards were not paid in Camp but the Auditor General's Department made out the checks for the Guards last week and they were sent out shortly after the organizations reached their respective homes.

Private Charles Law of Co. C, First Regiment met with an accident on his last night in Camp, being shot in the abdomen while sleeping. Law retired after "taps" was sounded, and about 2 o'clock in the morning was awakened by a loud report of a gun. On getting up he found that he was shot in the abdomen. He was hurried over to the regimental hospital, where Major Turnbull, regimental surgeon, applied first aid dressings and sent him over to the field hospital. It is supposed that, after being on the big division maneuver Law failed to remove the blank cartridge from the breach of his rifle and that in some manner he accidentally touched the trigger of the weapon with his foot while sleeping.

A public meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the interest of the movement for a District Nurse. The meeting is called for the Court House at 7:30 and the Chautauqua Chorus will sing at meeting. The purpose of the movement is to provide a nurse for the town who shall be paid by the town and give her services to the most needy. It will be explained at the meeting. The movement has won such support that already $300 is in sight for the first year's expenses estimated at $750. Fifty persons have volunteered to raise $75 a piece. At the public meeting on Tuesday evening a constitution will be submitted and a permanent organization effected. Other committees have been appointed and will report at meeting. This movement has been received with enthusiastic support by our people.

Concrete Work.

The Borough at junction of Carlisle Street and Lincoln Avenue has built a concrete square from curb to curb to take the place of crossings. An Unusual Home Body.

It is doubtful whether there could be found another person in Adams County to equal the record of Mrs. Andrew Heintzleman of Highland township as a home body. Enjoying good health and in middle age life her home and surroundings answer the needs and desires of her life. Last week an expressed wish of hers to go to Gettysburg resulted in a visit to this place and the visit was a most remarkable one from the point of view, that notwithstanding Mrs. Heintzleman has lived all her life in the county and within not less than 6 miles from this place, yet it was 37 years ago since her last visit to Gettysburg.

Col. Cope Paints Portrait.

Col. E. B. Cope has just finished a portrait of his grandson, Elmer Bradley Wible, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wible, that is a splendid piece of work. The picture can be seen in the window of Wm. H. Tipton's studio.

50TH BATTLE ANNIVERSARY

AS PROVIDED FOR IN GENERAL DEFICIENCY BILL OF CONGRESS

Language of Bill by Which Congress Assumes Physical Control of the Situation.

The exact language of the General Deficiency Bill reported in Congress taking care of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, briefly referred to in our last issue is as follows:

Sec. 5. That the Secretary of War be authorized and directed. First, To make all necessary and proper detail of officers of the United States Army to make such surveys, measurements, and estimates as may be necessary in providing a sufficient supply of good water for public use upon the first, second, third, and fourth days of July, 1913, upon the battle field of Gettysburg, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, upon the commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, and to make all necessary provisions and perform all necessary acts in connection with bringing upon said battlefield upon said occasion such sufficient supply of good water fit for drinking and other purposes connected with and incidental to such occasion.

Second. To provide for all necessary sewerage, sanitation, and hospital service, necessary for the health and accommodation of persons attending upon such occasion.

Third. To provide and furnish all necessary camp and garrison equipment for visiting veterans of the Civil War, together with all necessary rations and supplies for such veterans during said celebration.

The steps authorized in this section to be taken by the War Department shall be fully completed before the first day of July, 1913, and all camp equipment, supplies, and rations shall be fully ready for occupancy and use.

The Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall have charge of the order of exercises, during the celebration; the physical control of the camp and grounds and the movement of troops and marching bodies therein shall be in the hands of the Secretary of War, under such officers as he may detail for that purpose.

There is appropriated one-half of such sum as may be necessary to carry out the foregoing provisions of this section, not to exceed the sum of $150,000, to continue available during the fiscal years of 1913 and 1914: Provided, That out of the sum of $250,000 heretofore pledged by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by act of the general assembly of that Commonwealth, adopted on the fourteenth day of June, 1911, the commission appointed by the governor of Pennsylvania, in accordance with said act and having charge of such celebration, shall set aside and appropriate a sum equal to the amount above appropriated, to wit, the sum of $150,000; so much of which as may be necessary shall be expended for the purposes provided in this section, under the sole direction of the Secretary of War; and provided further, That until the said commission shall adopt a resolution agreeing that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall bear one-half of the expenses in carrying out the provisions of this section, and shall furnish to the Secretary of War a certified copy of such resolution, no part of the sum appropriated in this section shall be expended.

Trolley Extension.

It is difficult to grasp why the building of the two trolleys so near to Gettysburg is delayed. The line at Caledonia is 15 miles away and the line in Conowingo township not quite 15 miles away. If any trolley would have a big first year's business it will be the one or more which reach this place in time to get a share of the business of 1913. That business can not help but be something enormous and the mass of people are going to stretch out any celebration so that the big business will necessarily cover weeks.

The Hanover & McSherrystown Street Railway Company are taking steps to build from McSherrystown to New Oxford and such extension will require the erection of three bridges, the proposed route of the extension was set out in papers filed with Governor Tener and approved by him last week.

If you have any skin trouble, why not get a jar of Hokara today and see how quickly it effects a cure?

Challenge from L. M. Buehler.

L. M. Buehler is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Gettysburg or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction L. M. Buehler will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Summer School Closes.

The Gettysburg College Summer School closed last week after a very successful session and the corps of instructors are very much encouraged with the work accomplished and look forward hopefully.

Between 30 and 40 persons took advantage of the course and they speak highly of the same, for at a very small charge they received the benefit of instruction under direction of Prof. C. F. Sanders and a half dozen instructors.

The instruction in art was in charge of Miss Jane Shields and on last Friday afternoon an exhibition was given in Glatfelter Hall of the work of the scholars in the Summer School. The exhibition was both interesting and instructive and will be most useful to the teachers in their work.

If Gettysburg is to have a manual training department in the public school, the work of training the children in drawing, and mechanically, will have to begin in the lowest grades and the exhibition gave an idea of the work ahead.

Two High School Vacancies.

Miss Nora A. Kieffer, recently elected by the Gettysburg School Board as Art teacher in High School, has resigned her position. She had been taking a course in manual training during summer at Columbia University, and resigns so she may be able to continue her work there for a full year.

The School Board will need a teacher to fill this position who will be able to teach art and possibly some other branches in the High School and start work in Manual Training.

Miss Ruth Hamilton will retire from the school to which she was elected her engagement to Mr. Paul Kepple, of Vandergrift, Pa., having been announced.

Festival.

Christian Endeavor Society of the McKnightstown Reformed church will hold a festival on the church lawn on Saturday evening, Aug. 3. Everybody invited.

Mother Rescues Daughter.

Falling into the mill race opposite her home, Gertrude, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Menges, would have been drowned on Tuesday of last week, but for the efforts of her mother, who plunged into the stream and rescued her when she sank for the third time. The child, with her sister, Margaret, and some companions, had been playing along the race when she fell in. The sister's screams brought her mother, who arrived after the little girl had gone down. Mrs. Menges at once plunged into the water, which reached to her neck, and managed to grasp the child's body and get it to the bank, where a number of men had gathered. The child was soon resuscitated and has shown no ill effects from her plunge. Mr. Menges is the junior member of the firm of A. L. Menges & Bro., proprietors of the old Menges flour mill and a graduate of Gettysburg College in class of 1896.

Lineman Falls from Tree.

Harry Nicodemus, Lineman for the United Telephone Company, whose home is at Boonsboro, Md., fell from a tree in Biglerville sustaining serious injuries to his head and side. The man was working on a tree in front of the residence of Harry Bucher when a limb broke throwing him to the concrete pavement. Two severe bruises were received to the back of the head and his side was badly hurt. He was carried to Hotel Bigler where he is under the care of Dr. J. H. Hildebrand.

A Dustless Summer

In the good old summer days that have never been but are to be---perhaps. Now the air is fairly alive with the dust kicked up and sucked up, and all of it is heavily laden with a mighty countless army of germs rushing into homes to attack the human being and it becomes a question of how to get rid of the dust with the least amount of scattering of germs. The answer to this problem is in the

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE EXTRACT of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest of pleasure, that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. Hayes, of Ladysmith, B. C. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning my ear, that the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I dressed the wound with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

THE INEVITABLE RESULTS OF THE DRUG HABIT.

A Remarkable Fish Catching Method—A $50,000 Vegetable Garden—Letters of George Meredith.

What the Drug Habit Means.

Whether a man has acquired the habit knowingly or unknowingly, its action is always the same. No matter how conscientiously he wishes to discharge his affairs, the drug at once begins to loosen his sense of moral obligation, until in the end it brings about absolute irresponsibility. Avoidance and neglect of customary duties, evasion of new ones, extraordinary resourcefulness in the discovery of the line of least resistance, and finally amazing cunning and treachery—this is the inevitable history.

The drug habit is no respecter of persons. I have under my care exemplary mothers and wives who became indifferent to their families; clergy men of known sincerity and fervor who became shoplifters and forgers; shrewd, successful business men who became paupers, because the habit left them at the mercy of sharper and mental deterioration had set in.—From Charles B. Towns' "The Peril of the Drug Habit" in the August Century.

A Philippino "Fish Wheel."

The most remarkable method of netting fish is without doubt that used by the Filipinos in Manila Bay. The nets belong to the dip-net family, but are on so large a scale that one can hardly realize their relationship to that group. This type of net, called by the natives salambao, often measures one hundred feet in diameter and twenty-five feet in depth. It is suspended by four small bamboo rods which hang from two large uprights or masts. These masts are attached to the deck of the queer native craft called aparao, in such a manner as to allow them and the net to be raised and lowered by means of a line and tackle attached to the stern.

When lowered for use the net is sufficiently weighted to carry it deep in to the water and there it is allowed to remain at rest for a while. One or two fishermen in small abaca then circle at some distance around the net and beat the water with flat boards attached to poles. This is to drive the fish toward the net, which is raised suddenly at the proper time. Before the fish are aware of danger they are surrounded by the net and can be quickly lifted out of the water.—F. W. Bogaz, in the August "OUTING."

A $50,000 Vegetable Garden.

"Suburban Life Magazine" for August tells of a man in St. Louis who has a successful vegetable garden on a plot of land valued at $50,000. "Get your feet on Mother Earth and let her draw away your troubles and cares" declares this business man. "When man is for very long out of touch with the first principles of nature, he begins to weaken. He may think he is doing himself and his descendants a great good, and is fast progressing when he bustles about making a great fuss over his artificial way of living, but he isn't. Nature, sooner or later, makes him realize that he cannot stand in judgment on his own actions. Why, the modern business man makes more noise going down town to his work in the morning than does the whole universe in its wonderful progress through endless space."

Letters of George Meredith.

The August number of SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE, following its custom for more than twenty years, is a Fiction Number, containing an attractive variety of the best short stories that are now written.

It is most appropriate that in the Fiction Number should begin the "Letters of George Meredith," the great master of English fiction, who recently died. For several years his son has been collecting and editing these letters, which are addressed to many of the most interesting men in England, not only in literature but public life. The quality of the letters in the first installment shows that in every way—by social aptitude, sympathy, wit, and kindly humor—Meredith was even a greater man than his novels suggest. The letters this month were written in the days of his comparative obscurity—although he had already many poems and several novels to his credit, and he had made friends with some of the literary men and artists of importance, such as Tom Taylor, Kingslake, Millais, and Watts. Some of the most charming letters are written to Mrs. Janet Ross, who was the model for Rose Jocelyn in "Evan Harrington." The friend, who later suggested the character of Beauchamp in "Beauchamp's Career," Captain Maxse, first appears in these letters. There are also several notes to Swinburne. Indeed, not since the Thackeray and Stevenson Letters, which also appeared in this Magazine, has there been a selection of letters of more literary quality and appealing charm than these of Meredith.

Insects Killing Chestnut Trees.

The importance of having the best information that can be secured on the subject of insects in their relation to the chestnut led the Secretary of Agriculture to project an extensive investigation through the Branch of Forest Insects of the Bureau of Entomology.

General investigations since 1893

have shown that more than 450 species of insects inhabit the chestnut. While all of these are not destructive, some are especially so. One, the so-called two-lined chestnut borer, is directly responsible for the death of more timber, perhaps, than all the others combined. This is a small, elongate beetle which flies in May and June and deposits eggs on the bark of living and dying chestnuts, oak, beech and ironwood in the southern, middle and eastern states. The elongate, slender larvae mine in the inner bark and outer wood in such a manner as to girdle the trees. When they attain their full growth they transform to the adult stage in the outer wood, or bark, to emerge the following spring and repeat the process. Investigations have shown that it can be controlled by disposing of the infested trees in such a manner as to destroy the bark on the main trunks during the fall and winter months.

The extensive dying of the chestnut in the southern states during the last century, where the chestnut blight disease was not known to occur, together with extensive investigations in this region, indicate that there are a number of agencies of destruction which must be investigated before the problem of protecting the chestnut can be solved.

In some sections of the south where more than fifty years ago the chestnut trees were abundant, very few are present to-day. Observations by Dr. A. D. Hopkins, in charge of Forest Insect Investigations, during the past twenty years in the Appalachians show a widespread death of both chestnut and chinquapin during the period.

In order that investigations may be extended in all sections where the chestnut grows, owners of timber should report to the Bureau of Entomology as to the healthy or unhealthy condition of their timber. Information is especially desired from localities representing the most northern, western, southern, and southeastern parts of its distribution, namely in the North from Maine, New Hampshire and New York; in the West from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee; in the South from Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia, and in the Southeast, from South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

Pure Ice.

People who wouldn't think of drinking dirty water often use unclean ice. Have you ever seen how ice is hauled? Frequently it stands on the sidewalk where dust and street dirt blow over it. People brush against it. Dogs have access to it. It affords an easy landing place for every bit of loose filth that is about.

Therefore, wash your ice carefully before you place butter or tomatoes upon it, or use it for ice water. Best of all drink ice cooled water instead of ice water. It is better for you and is more sure to be clean.

Hesitate before you drink from public drinking tanks. Only too often the ice here is carelessly washed. Many offices, instead of using ice water, place the ice upon coils of pipe through which the water flows. This cools the water and at the same time prevents it from getting dirty.

Ice is one of our greatest comforts in summer. Use it, however, in such a way that it will do you good instead of harm.—By Karl de Schweinitz, Executive Secretary, Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Oct. 27th is Tuberculosis Day.

Churches and religious societies, to the number of at least 100,000 will be urged to give special attention to the prevention of tuberculosis on Sunday, October 27th, or on some day during the week preceding or the week following that date. This season has been set apart and designated as the Third National Tuberculosis Day by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which makes this announcement today.

Tuberculosis Day was originally set on April 25th, but was postponed because of a conflict with Conservation Sunday of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, which was held on that date. The observance of Tuberculosis Day in the Fall this year will be utilized by anti-tuberculosis workers not only for the general education of churchgoers on consumption, but also for the purpose of interesting them in the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals.

Every one of the 600 and more anti-tuberculosis associations allied with the National Association, will be urged to promote Tuberculosis Day in their respective communities. While last year over 50,000 churches observed this occasion, it is expected this year that this number will be doubled. Millions of circulars and other forms of literature will be distributed. The support of every religious denomination will be asked for.

That tuberculosis is a serious problem among church congregations is evidenced by statistics which the National Association gathered last year, which show that 10 per cent of all deaths among church members are caused by tuberculosis. Based on the mortality statistics of the Census Bureau, over 52,000 of the 33,000,000 communicants in churches in the United States die from tuberculosis every year. This figure assumes that the death rate of 160 per 1,000 population in the Registration Area applies to all churchgoers, when, as a matter of fact, the rate would probably be higher.

Peculiar Burn.

H. C. Brinton, trucker on the former Long farm along Abbottstown pike had been handling a phosphorous compound, used for rats on his premises. He picked up a piece of burlap to wipe off the paste, when he cloth ignited, inflicting burns on both hands—the right one being burned most severely.

CHILLED MEAT FOR AN ARMY

France Tries It With Success for Short Periods and Will Make Further Tests.

The use of chilled meat for the French army is being started, according to the Revue Generale du Frold. France has used frozen beef to a considerable extent, just as do the British and German armies, but the difficulty that is presented with chilled beef is that it is not known how long or how well it will stand the frequent handling necessary to army transportation.

To further this trial cold storage depots were established in the last year at Paris, Epinal, Toul, Verdun and Belfort. When the hot weather of the summer arrived the chilled meats from these depots were carried to the camps in motor trucks and distributed thence to the various regiments by horse drawn vehicles. Very satisfactory results are said to have been obtained.

The temperature in the cold storage was from 32 to 34 degrees Fahrenheit. The meat was encased in anti-septic muslin bags when taken out for delivery to the army.

The limit within which chilled meat could be handled satisfactorily seemed to be about two days.

THREAT HELD NO TERRORS

Young Minister Decidedly Would Not Object to the Letters D. D. Following His Name.

A young minister settled over a small country parish was instructed by his parishoners to secure a piano for their use, according to the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune. He did so, telling the dealer to charge the bill for rental to the secretary of the parish. When the bill amounted to $25, the society being unable to pay it, as well as the salary of the pastor, the music dealer dunned the minister for the money, telling him that he assumed the responsibility. The latter replied that he never assumed the responsibility of another, having all he could do to pay his own bills, whereupon the dealer threatened to sue him.

A short time after our friend received a letter from a New York collection agency, to which, as well as several following, he paid no attention until the following short but definite letter came:

"Dear Sir: Unless you remit at once we shall publish you all over the country as a delinquent debtor."

To which he replied: "Gentlemen: Ever since I entered the ministry I have been struggling for the title of D. D. Go ahead."

When Space Is Very Scarce.

"But, of course, you have no closet room," remarked the visitor who had been enthusiastically introduced to all the advantages of a studio bedroom, once the drawing-room of a large city house. "Haven't I?" exclaimed the occupant of the room gleefully. "Just wait until I show you my closet room!" And she whisked open the door of one of the handsome mission bookcases that lined the walls. All of the bookcases had green silk curtains on brass rods within the glass doors, some of the curtains being drawn and others pushed back to show the books. She showed her guest how the shelves in some of the cases had been removed and hooks provided from which frocks and skirts hung comfortably and entirely out of sight behind the curtains. "In these drawers at the bottom of the bookcases," she added, "I keep blouses and lingerie, and everything is out of sight and entirely protected from dust."

Effect of Artificial Lights on Air.

Tests on the influence of light sources on the air of a dwelling room have just been made in a room 14 feet long, 12 feet wide, and 12 feet high, provided with one door and two windows, also a latticed ventilator 8 inches from the floor and one on the opposite side 8 inches from the ceiling. For the first experiment a tannum electric lamp was burned; for the second experiment a Welsbach gas light of like candle power was used. Tests made after a three hours' burning showed that the electric light increased the amount of carbon dioxide by 1.054 per cent, the gas light by only 0.131 per cent. The fact that a larger amount of carbon dioxide may be found when electric lights are used has been attributed to the hotter gas flame, which causes a more effective circulation of the air and therefore removes the carbonic acid gas more speedily.

HAMMERS ON CAMPAIGN

DISCUSSES ISSUES AND MEN OF THE TWO PARTIES.

Advises Every One to Vote for Woodrow Wilson who is Free from all Control of the Money Power.

Scarcely had the name of Woodrow Wilson and that of Thomas N. Marshall for President and Vice President of the United States been announced at the Baltimore convention, when in every newspaper one picked up of a Republican nature, there were the head lines "Free Trade." Strange that we have so many fools in this country today, and I will tell you the reason why, the young ones grow up before the old ones die.

Now we want to ask every American citizen what is "Free Trade," and any little child will stand up and tell you that "Free Trade" is "Commercial Liberty," "Unrestricted Trade," "Trade in which the people of England, Cumberland, and all other towns in Adams County, should have their own judgment in buying and selling. The people of all the towns in said county are under no dictation from Congress, Parliament, Emperor or any other person as to whether they should buy this or that or should sell here or there, and so should it be between nations, "Free Trade" is nothing but simple "Commercial Liberty."

Now why is it that the Republican party of the United States denies to her citizens "Commercial Liberty"? We have heard much eloquence of the blessings of Commerce from Republican leaders. They tell us that each quarter of the globe, every section between the parallels of latitude and longitude are endowed with their own peculiar facilities for ministering to the comforts of man. Iowa gives its grain, Florida its oranges, and Pennsylvania its iron, Brazil its coffee and so why should not commerce bring these gifts of God to the hand of every man. And yet America has idiotic voters that will cast their vote against Free Trade. It is not that the people of the United States do not have better sense in the matter.

During 1911 sugar was selling at 5 cents per lb., over in England it was selling at 5 1/2 per lb. Would it not have paid our manufacturers of preserves in America to have gone over to England. America through its Protective Tariff was compelling us people to pay 2 cents more per lb. than the people were paying under British Free Trade. Congress removes the duty on sugar, we poor men today can sweeten our coffee 2 cents a lb. less. Cannot the voter see these facts, and if it holds good on sugar, what under heaven is to keep it from working on any other article of food. Now let us have "Free Trade" for the common good of all.

Free trade is the glory of all civilization, when the riches or wealth of every clime can be opened to the good of us all. Can any man see a blunder in all this? Is commerce a prodigious blunder? A fool of a protectionist some years ago said he wished that the ocean was a liquid fire, so that no ships could come to us and no ships go from us to the other side, and there is no doubt in our minds but that the idiot thought that America would be made independent then.

Free trade has thousands of advantages where protection has none. Now suppose that the protection system had been faithfully applied in this country, there is no argument for the protection of the United States against England, France or Germany which cannot be applied with double force for the protection of Pennsylvania against Maryland.

Now let the protectionists suppose that each state had erected its tariff wall to prevent the horrid invasion of the goods of other states. The bare suggestion to any man of brains is enough. Every person knows that the main cause for the wonderful progress of our country is "free trade" between all states as well as countries. The open unhindered exchange of the products of each for the products of the other. Free trade, in every country where it exists, proves to be the highest condition of prosperity. Commercial Liberty goes naturally with all elements of material advancement.

Now let us take the Locomotive, the Steamship, the Telegraph, and Telephone, what do they all do but make the exchange of all commodities easy. Now what does Protection do? Every little School boy would tell you that it makes all Trade difficult, costly and unprofitable for us all.

It has been the rule ever since we can remember, every four years the American people save the country from something. We believe the best thing the people could do this presidential year, would be to save the country from Rooseveltism and Taftism. Bryan should have been endorsed as a presidential candidate for 1912. Wm. J. Bryan in our estimation is the greatest Statesman in America, and his great influence will be felt for many years to come in American politics. He is one of the worlds giants in intellect and simply indefatigable in the prosecution of any campaign. Bryan is a man of clear views, or the greatest of Republican payers would never have secured his service to report the proceedings of the Chicago and the Baltimore conventions. He is a man of decided convictions, and is quick to see the weak points in an argument. He is not a man to dispute or argue at length. At the Baltimore convention he simply said he did not wish to see a candidate nominated with the New York delegate, and shortly following said de-laration comes the news of the great gambling tragedy. That has been the course of Bryan's defeat every term, New York's rough element fear him. We say under a wager of ten thousand dollars that there was not one man that left the Chicago or Baltimore conventions with cleaner hands and record than Bryan. His principals are of the purest. He has always been an expert at keen criticism and often drove home his points with such irresistible force as to create the greatest sensation. Men like Roosevelt and Taft never cared to measure swords with Bryan in the arena of controversy. All through Bryan's life he has been a marvel in strength, keenness and majestic personality as a defender of what was right he always stood like a stone wall.

We notice where some one from the State of Missouri, by the name of James A. Lynch says, "If Wilson is tarred with the same stick as the Nebraska, what inducements are there for same Democrats to vote for him?" There are millions of true Democrats, Roosevelt and Taft Republicans next November will cast their votes for Woodrow Wilson. We say without fear of contradiction from Mr. Lynch or any other man in the United States, that if Roosevelt or Taft were half as smart as Wm. J. Bryan there might be a possibility of them getting elected. Bryan, we repeat is the world's smartest man today. And if Wilson was not a competent man for the Executive chair, we would have heard from Mr. Bryan at Baltimore Bryan is Americas great watch dog, and the rest of the great men are but small pups, that continually bark at him. He was a giant in intellect and simply indefatigable in the prosecution of both the Republican and Democratic conventions, great Republican papers had to secure Bryan to give them the true light of both conventions, President Taft as well as Roosevelt followed Bryan's plans and ideas all through their administrations. Then talk of Woodrow Wilson being tarred with the same stick, so should Roosevelt and so should Taft be, if our country is to be safe for another four years.

The only danger we see is Roosevelt and Taft will get their tar from Wall Street and Bryan seeing the bad results of this grade of tar, said he did not want any candidate nominated at the Baltimore Convention to result from the vote of the delegates of New York. Wall Street never furnished the tar for Wm. J. Bryan. Hence Bryan rejoiced in his defeat, rather than be elected by a class of men that did not even wish to see support Wilson by their votes at Baltimore.

Roosevelt in his Lobster Bay speech July 26 had to even speak of Bryan's 53 cent dollar. He did not know that Bryan in one of his campaigns struck a crowd of 1000 goldites and they had their fun with the silver king, asked him about his 53 cent dollars. Bryan said all you who think your gold standard such a good thing please hold up your hands. Up goes 1000 hands. Now I want someone in the crowd to show me some gold, "cheers of a wild character." One hand held up a gold dollar. We want a standard that furnishes the kind of money we all want. We do not want to praise one kind of money and never get to see any of it. What kind of money have you in your pockets, 1000 men with pockets filled with greenbacks. Do we want a kind of money so scarce that we cannot ever see it. You goldites want money so scarce that a few financiers can corner that kind of money and then deal it out at such a price as they see fit, so a few men can corner it at any time. Mr. Bryan has the trains to see that when we discriminate against silver we make money the master and all things else the servant.

So all those who want money to be the master can vote for Roosevelt and Taft this fall, and all men of brains can vote for Woodrow Wilson who will restore to the people their right to rule and eliminate all dictation of the money power.

ORRTANNA.

Twenty six persons went with the excursion to Baltimore and Tolchester from Orrtanna on a recent Saturday.

It is a common sight to look upon a flock of seven deer grazing on the farm of A. M. Lochbaum, at intervals. They could be seen grazing on the wheat or oats or rambling in the cornfield, not likely they will be so handy when the season opens to shoot them.

While Mervin Herring and family of near Ragged-Edge were at the Mt. Carmel church festival last Saturday evening some low-down person or persons entered his house, ransacked it from garret to cellar, and carried away as their booty $50.00 and some good wine.

Hay was a good crop through here and much timothy seed will be gathered. Maxwell Cease, residing on the Sheely Bros' farm, formerly the Baumgardner farm, threshed 10 bu. seed from one load.

George A. Kane of Willow-Grove is preparing to build a barn this fall, to take the place of the old one, which is pretty well dilapidated and according to records it must have been built about the year 1816, making it nearly 100 years old.

Herman Bream lost a valuable young horse by death one day last week, lockjaw being the cause of death.

THIEVE stole about two bushels of potatoes from the garden of C. H. Altland in East Berlin. Mr. Altland traced the thieves for quite a distance and says that if it should happen again he thinks he could trace them clear home.

Good Roads in Adjoining States

One thousand miles of highway built since the State began its present road improvement system will be what Pennsylvania can show at the end of the present year but in spite of the progress made by the Keystone State it is being closely pressed by its neighbor commonwealths. New York and New Jersey have been building roads on a definite program for several years, whereas this State had no system for its highway construction until last year, giving the two other States an advantage which has been worth untold thousands of dollars to their people. Ohio and Maryland have just created highway building departments and other states like Texas and Michigan are already engaged in building on a scale that will make Pennsylvania look to its laurels.

The mileage of roads improved by the State this year will be the largest in its history, but this is only a beginning. Pennsylvania is committed to the establishment of a network of highways approximating 8,000 miles, the greatest of any State, and so located as to connect every county seat and provide easy access to market towns in agricultural districts. The adoption of just such a system has given New York the lead of every State in the matter of highway improvements and resulted in the voting of $5,000,000 a year for ten years to make the system the best in the country.

The manner in which the people of New York have profited by their improved roads is interesting to Pennsylvania at whose expense a great part of the gain has been. The empire State, not possessing except in its eastern part the scenery which characterizes almost every section of Pennsylvania, made many of its road improvements in the fertile western portion, with the result that while affording splendid roads and quicker means of reaching the numerous cities and towns to sell their produce, they also tempted to the New York roads the heavy automobile travel which would have gone through Pennsylvania if this State had the roads. The improved roads have developed extensive truck farming in the vicinities of cities, and farms which for years were confined to raising of staple grains being brought nearer to markets by the better roads are now growing produce which finds a ready sale. Another interesting fact is that New York has probably as many farmers owning automobiles as any State in the Union. New York with these good roads won the Eastern bound automobile traffic, which scatters dollars to such an extent that the New England States are now dotted with automobile supply stores and hotels whose business is largely with tourists. Visitors to Eastern resorts and cities have been surprised at the number of automobiles bearing the license tags of western States, comparatively few of which go through Pennsylvania merely clipping the Erie corner in order to pass from Ohio's fine lake side roads to the wide, smooth highways of New York.

The loss in dollars and cents to farmers of Pennsylvania by reason of inability to reach market towns more than once a week, due to poor roads, is probably many times what residents of this State lose by diversion of automobile traffic from the same cause. The adoption of the main highway system by the legislature of 1911 gave the State a way to obtain the advantages possessed by New York State folks, and the ratification of the constitutional amendment for the issuance of $50,000,000 bonds for road building will supply the means. The next legislature which meets in January, will act on this proposition, which will then go to the voters for approval. Its adoption will put Pennsylvania right up with New York and furnish the richest of States with what it has most needed for a generation, a system of good roads well maintained.

IT MUST BE TRUE

Gettysburg Readers Must Come to That Conclusion.

It is not the telling of a single case in Gettysburg, but scores of citizens testify. Endorsement by people you know bears the stamp of truth. The following is one of the statements made in this locality about Doan's Kidney Pills:

John J. Tawney, 234 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I hold Doan's Kidney Pills in high esteem and I always have a box in the house to use in case of need. I suffered from kidney complaint. My back ached constantly and often in the morning I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly get out of bed. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and caused me no end of annoyance. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so, getting them from the People's Drug Store and I was surprised by their promptness in relieving me. My health improved greatly and I now have no cause for complaint. Two years ago a member of my family publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in my behalf and at this time I can confirm that statement."

TAFT-ROOSEVELT SHOW.
The C. O. P. and the Bull Moose are trying to keep the summer days from being dull. Last week Congressman Bartholdt, Republican made an attack on Roosevelt in the House, saying that "Roosevelt had gone to the Chicago convention when he was no longer at heart a Republican. In the light of later events we know that Roosevelt never intended to abide by the decision of the convention unless he himself should be the nominee. Yes, and we can go further and say, when the Oyster Bay candidate made up his mind to disobey all American traditions and go to Chicago at that very moment he knew he was beaten but expected to save the day by personal appeals to the delegates through persuasion, promises, coercion, or threats."
"But he came with treachery in his heart and fully determined to bolt if things went against him. The cry of fraud was premeditated and the shameless ejection of 'thieves,' with which he shocked his audience upon his entrance into Chicago was the battle cry of the new party. There could be no other for principles and politics were forgotten and if he had been nominated he would have made the race on any old platform, with his frantic followers shouting 'Hosanna!'"
The National committee had heeded the injunction "Thou shalt not steal, except for me," all would have been well, but its determination to do its work conscientiously brought all the pre-arranged plans of party treachery to full fruition. A new party is born, but is it not bound to be still-born, but is it not bound to be still-born? Can a party live or ought it to live when its birthright is a lie?"
President Taft accepted the nomination last week and chief Bull Moose Roosevelt criticized the acceptance as follows:
"President Taft failed, to meet the live issues in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. The president confined himself largely to conservative observations upon general questions, and seemed to be afraid to commit himself upon the questions of the hour such as the collection of tolls on the Panama canal."
Roosevelt said he was amused by many of the president's remarks such as his statement that constitutional referendums do not pay rent. He believed that speech was a negative conservative document which failed to catch the spirit of the times.
